Please put commentary below for Human Rights, Equalities and Inclusion ratings above:

Most of this section is not relevant as there is no decision-making process or attendance required. This policy allows registrants to consent to receiving notices by email if they wish to do so. Even after giving consent, registrants can withdraw it or ask for some information to be sent by post. The policy also outlines the circumstances in which we will check if an email has been received and the safeguards that we will apply.

As this policy allows registrants the choice as to how to receive statutory notices, we do not consider that there are any obvious impacts on persons with protect characteristics as they can opt out of receiving notices by email. We have already indicated in the policy (in the 'reasonable adjustments' section) that if it appears to us that a registrant who has previously consented to receive notices by email may find it difficult to process them in this way, we will consider sending the notices by post.

In terms of accessibility, the wording of the consent will be important and we have tried to ensure that this is written in plain English. We have given stakeholders the opportunity to comment on that as part of their overall comments on the policy. The consent provisions will be part of electronic renewal forms on the website, which can be enlarged or used with accessibility readers. The consent provisions will also be part of separate registration forms on the website – our forms are available in different formats and languages on request. We have a customer service support line for any queries that our registrants may have.

A full impact assessment is not required.
